

LOST IN SMOKE TWO ARE SAVED AT BROOKLYN FIRE

One Woman, Overcome, Is Found by Policeman—Firemen Rescue Others.

Two women, lost in the smoke, were rescued early to-day during a fire in the three-story building No. 1095 Broadway, Brooklyn.

Mrs. Clara McCurdy, thirty-nine, became confused when her husband and two children hurried from their apartment on the second floor, Policeman John P. O'Kane of the Vernon Avenue Station went up the stairs and, though almost overcome himself, found her semi-conscious on the floor and carried her to the street.

She was treated by an ambulance surgeon from Bushwick Hospital and cared for by neighbors.

On the top floor Mrs. Margaret Novack got out safe, but her daughter, Miss Charlotte Novack, twenty-three, remained to search for her dog Popsy. She became lost and appeared at a window as Hogg and Ladder Company No. 124 ran up a ladder.

Capt. Harry Moll called for a volunteer and sent Fireman John J. Korn up to the window to rescue her. She was carried down the ladder to the street and had to be attended for hysteria.

Frank Gannon, his wife, Louise and three children were led to the street from the second floor, and Aaron Moskowitz and his wife, Ethel and three children from the third.

The fire started in a clothing store on the ground floor and was discovered by Policeman O'Kane. It went through the building and did $12,000 damage.

MADE PREACHER SAD.

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 27.—The sight of a woman buying bread on Sunday greatly distressed a Methodist preacher. He said so himself, in addressing a gathering of the conference of the Camden District of the Methodist Episcopal Church here.

"As she came close to me," the Rev. William Grum said of a young woman he saw emerging from a Camden grocery store on Sunday, "I was much distressed to observe that she had a large loaf of bread under her arm."

GERMAN DYE PLANT SEIZED BY WORKERS

Locked Out Employees of Hoechst Take Possession and Conduct Operations.

FRANKFURT, Sept. 27 (Associated Press).—The plant of the Hoechst Dye Works, which was closed Saturday owing to the management announced, to unreasonable wage demands, has been seized by the locked out workmen, who are carrying on the most vital operations.

The French Delegate for the district has issued a proclamation announcing that it is not his intention to interfere in the quarrel. He begs the workmen, however, to refrain from violence.

The Hoechst concern is closely connected with the Badische Anilin plant at Oppau, where the explosion occurred last week. Among the explanations of the sudden cessation of work at the Hoechst plant is one that the Oppau explosion destroyed materials necessary to the operation of the Hoechst plant.

MRS. JEROME MAY BE LAME FOR LIFE

Victim of Auto Crash Likely to Be Crippled Slightly—No Internal Injury.

POUGHKEEPSIE, Sept. 27.—Mrs. William Travers Jerome, who was injured in an automobile collision at Millbrook on Sunday, probably will be slightly lame for the rest of her life. It was said at the Varior Brothers Hospital here. Mrs. Jerome is resting comfortably and has no internal injuries.

Dr. H. A. Gribson said her left leg was fractured just above the knee.

Toronto Metals Firm Official, His Son and Bookkeeper Are Accused.

TORONTO, Sept. 27.—The theft of $700,000 is one of five charges pending against two officers and one employee of the firm of N. Brenner & Co., which did an extensive business in metals with New York and London interests. N. Brenner, head of the firm; Myer Brenner, his son, and Gordon Blackford, bookkeeper, are out on bail, having been arrested Saturday on charges including those of conspiracy to defraud the public and the firm and theft of the $700,000. Myer Brenner owns a half interest in the racing stable of Harry Golding. The charges were preferred by Oester Wade, to whom the firm assigned last November. The Brenners blamed declining prices of metals for the assignment.

A Most Important Presentation of

Paris-made Feathered Hats

at 5.95 to 13.95

Just off the steamer, these hats breathe the very spirit of Paris!

PARTICULARLY interesting are the Chin-Chin sailors, with wings of pasted feathers, the turbans with their soft folds, and the close-fitting casques with flaring wings at either side. Richness of coloring and variety of mode are charmingly worked out in feathers of goose, pheasant, coque and hackle. Three Styles Pictured.

And yet, when sickness comes,
he drinks milk

TELL a big, husky man he ought to drink milk and he might smile pityingly. He thinks milk is good for babies, but that milk means little to him with his big meals of rare meat and cooked vegetables.

But if sickness should overtake him, if his overworked organs refuse to accept his ordinary fare, then he drinks milk as the logical food for him.

It would be better if he could realize that milk is food for a healthy man—that no matter what else he eats, milk should be included in his diet. The scientists and dieticians call milk a protective food.

In milk there are the mysterious vitamins that are essential to all human bodies. Though there are various foods containing vitamins, we know of none that contains all the varieties of vitamins known to science, and in a natural form.

Drink milk when you are well. Don't wait for a doctor to prescribe it when you are sick. Look upon milk as a food that happens to be in beverage form.
